Building Humpies, Cubbies, Teepees or a Little Lean-to

Let's build our own little meeting places where we can sit with our friends and have a great time. First we choose the materials and decide on what type of little hut we'll build. Of course, we need to be architects, engineers and builders at the same time because we not only want our little house to look great, but also want it to be strong and not collapse. To make them waterproof may be a challenge, but we'll definitely try....

CWCN's Scarecrows are Coming Back!

We can't wait, because we have missed our friends. So let's roll up our sleeves and create our wonderful scarecrow family. Many hands wanted. These scarecrows are hungry. A lot of straw is needed to make them into chubby good looking neighbours. They will find their permanent spot in CWCN's edible garden at the back of the Centre for everyone to see and enjoy! And we'll make our very own little scarecrows to take home too.....

Map and Compass Challenge at Anzac Park

Fast kids wanted. Time to explore Anzac Park through an activity similar to orienteering and with an environmental twist. Our young participants will learn how to read maps and how to navigate. They will find their way to a given destination via control points, and there may well be tasks on the way. Different age groups are taken into account. Lots of active fun is a given.
