Greenhill Reservoir, Chapel Hill

Community Celebration

Bushland Rehabilitation Success & Installation of Nest Boxes

Highlights:

- Entertaining talk about benefits of and needs for nest boxes by ecologist Stefan Hattingh of Bulimba Creek Catchment Coordinating Committee;
- Installation of the last of 17 nest boxes, large enough for a barn owl, with the intent to encourage native predators like owls to manage domestic rat populations rather than households using poison;
- Wild Rangers Wildlife Encounters' menagerie of live animals, all potential residents in new nest boxes, always an attraction for families;
- Walk through the Greenhill Reservoir rehabilitation site;
- Cubberla-Witton Catchments Network will showcase further rehabilitation projects under the Australian Government's Communities Environment Grants Program;
- Brisbane Catchments Network's Brisbane's Big Butterfly Count display and survey results;
- Morning tea and refreshments for all.

Funding and additional support for the nest box project and/or the event were received by
